Re: In the Matter of Petition of USTelecom for Forbearance Pursuant to 47 U.S.C. Section 160(c); WC Docket No. 18-141; Category 1

Dear FCC,

I would like to express my opposition to this effort to limit customer options for access to high-speed fiber internet. The efforts by the big internet conglomerates to reduce the number of options down to just their own is outright despicable and should be condemned.

In order to lead the charge in internet access, I believe we need to encourage 3rd party companies to be able to distribute this high speed internet to more people at more competitive rates, which will increase the competitive market, and in turn generate more jobs while reducing prices and increasing consumer freedom.

I've been a customer of so-called 'high speed' internet from Comcast, and compared to Sonic's fiber internet access, I no get 10x the speed at half the price I used to pay. If we had more companies in the market offering 1G fiber internet for $40/mo than I think the big internet giants might be inclined to improve their network speeds and reduce prices into the same range that the rest of the world enjoys.

Thank you for your consideration.
